Azure SQL Database Managed Instance

Optimize database ROI with exclusive, pro-active management by Codero.

Working with databases is sensitive business — not only do you have to protect against threats to customer data, you have to ensure your IT is up to the challenge of running constant queries against massive amounts of data.

When you sign up for SQL Database Managed Instance, you get all the tools you know and love from SQL Server, managed by Microsoft and Codero so you can focus on other things. Codero has been chosen by Microsoft as one of a select group of Datacenter Optimization Partners to pro-actively support and manage Azure SQL Database Managed Instance as part of a pilot program. While Microsoft keeps your managed instance secure, patched, and highly available, Codero pro-actively works to ensure your database keeps up with organizational growth and ever-changing demands.
